Deemed-to-be-university

During the last interaction meeting with the students, it was learnt that some of them had a confusion about "Deemed-to-be-University", implying that such Universities are "yet-to-be".

This is to inform that "Deemed-to-be-University" title is conferred on those Institutions, with a proven track record (such as BITS-Pilani, Manipal, Thapar etc.), whom the UGC considers fit enough as Universities. These Institutions then get complete rights for award of degrees, like any other central or state Universities as per the prescribed UGC guidelines. These Institutions are, of course have no right to affiliate other colleges.

The students are therefore advised, with full authority & responsibility that Lingaya's University has been declared competent by MHRD/UGC to award degrees and students will surely get Lingaya's University Degree on satisfactory completion of their course.

The status of Lingaya's University can also be confirmed at the website of UGC, AICTE and MHRD.
